Team Cymru Wins 2011 SURFcert Security Award

Internet research company wins prestigious Dutch award.

Burr Ridge, IL – February 10th 2011 - A Chicago based IT Security Research company today accepted this years SURFcert Security Award at the SURFcert security conference in Holland.

The award was for "...sterling work to improve the overall level of Internet security. Team Cymru's non-profit status and the concrete way in which it provides operational support for CERTs all over the world has made it an important partner for non-commercial organizations such as SURFcert and its constituency".

SURFnet itself is one of the premier European providers, serving Dutch Academic and Research organizations since the late 80's.

Ian Cook, accepting the award, said "We're honored and flattered to be recognized for our efforts by a world-class organization like SURFnet and we are, however, very grateful to have people around the world that recognize how important security is".
